dirigibles-
Los Angeles and Shenandoahare in the opinion of Commander Donald B. MacMillan, the chief of the expedition, the best suited to overcome the hazards of the Polar regions. The dirigibles, he said, are more maneuverable than the heavier-than-air machines, and can be landed in places where the ice is too thin for the latter.

Under such conditions, he said,
the dirigibles are the only machines capable of making a landing. The heavier-than-air machines, he added,
are too dependent upon the wind,
and are liable to be blown off course
or to crash.

MacMillan's expedition, which left New York last week, is the first of its kind since the expedition of 1913-14. It is expected to return
next month.

It was learned that about fifty officers of the expedition, who are in charge of the dirigibles, are expected to return to the United States
next month.

TC-7 Flies to State Fair At Sedalia in Four Hours

Distance of 180 Miles From Scott Field Covered at Average Speed of 45 Miles an Hour.

TC-7, a big Scott Field airship, flew from its home station to the State fairgrounds at Sedalia, Mo., a distance of about 180 miles, in four hours and five minutes, early today. The average speed was about 45 miles an hour.

The trip was made for a demonstration of the craft for those attending the fair. The return trip was started at 2 p. m.

Lieutenant Colonel John A. Paele, commandant of Scott Field, was in command of the ship on this flight and the only passenger was George S. Johns of the Post-Dispatch. Lieut. K. S. Axtater, chief of the fair, served as pilot and the crew comprised Master Sergeant Joseph H. Bishop and Staff Sergeant Roy H. Hall. The ship, which is 195 feet long, with two powerful motors in the rear, left Scott Field at 4:25 a. m. and appeared over the fairgrounds at Sedalia at 8:30 a. m.

An enjoyable and uneventful flight was reported by those on the ship when they landed at Sedalia. A northeast wind aided the flying. Fifty men, waiting on the infield on the racetrack, manned the landing ropes when TC-7 arrived.

Arrival of the ship, coupled with ideal weather, attracted a large crowd to the fair. Those on the ship were presented with oranges and grapefruit from a Los Angeles exhibit.

SISTERS KILLED WHEN AUTO SKIDS ON WET ROAD

Bodies of Miss Prudence Chappell, 29, and Pearl, 12, Brought to Their Home in St. Louis.

HAD BEEN ON VACATION IN NORTH

Car Driven by Elder, a Teacher, When It Overturned on Highway Near Dwight, Ill.

The bodies of Miss Prudence Chappell, 29 years old, of 4533A Clayton avenue, a school teacher, and her 12-year-old sister, Pearl, were forwarded to St. Louis last night from Dwight, Ill. 75 miles southwest of Chicago, where they were killed Wednesday afternoon when their automobile skidded on a wet pavement and overturned.

Miss Prudence Chappell was killed instantly, having suffered a broken neck. The younger sister died 12 hours later, from internal injuries in a war veterans' hospital in Dwight.

The sisters were returning by automobile from a vacation around the Great Lakes. They had approached a point about a quarter of a mile north of Dwight, on State Highway No. 4, when their car was observed by employees of a garage a hundred yards away to skid and turn over. There had been a rain several hours before. A too sudden application of the brakes by the elder sister, who was at the wheel, caused the accident.

Older Sister a Teacher.

Miss Prudence Chappell last year taught in the Granite City High School, and before that in the public schools at Alton. She was an instructor in commercial subjects, and last September organized a night business class at Manchester and Taylor avenues.

The younger sister was an invalid, suffering from heart disease, and was a patient in the Children's Hospital here for nearly a year.

The sisters were the daughters of Richard H. Chappell, a carpenter. They are survived by their father, their step-mother and a younger sister and brother.

The funeral of the sisters will be held jointly from an undertaker's chapel at 424 Manchester avenue at 2 p. m. tomorrow. Interment will be in Memorial Park cemetery.

BEACON HAS FLASHED EVERY THREE SECONDS FOR 14 YEARS

Old Time Lighthouse Rapidly Disappearing in Favor of Automatic Signals, Report Shows.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Every three seconds both day and night for 14 years an automatic light of the Hawaiian Islands has flashed a warning to mariners.

This was disclosed today in a report from Commissioner Putnam of the Light House Service which showed that the old-time light was rapidly disappearing in favor of the high automatic lighthouses which need only occasional human attention. During the last fiscal year 74 lighthouses along the American coast were replaced by automatic beacons. About 14 more lighthouses are scheduled for replacement with automatic signaling devices, but this is thought about the limit to which the changing may efficiently go as a certain number of lighthouses and lightships must always be manned by human personnel.

INVESTIGATION OF LYNCHING AT EXCELSIOR SPRINGS ENDS

Grand Jury Reports That It Is Unable to Find Enough Evidence to Return Indictment.

LIBERTY, Mo., Aug. 21.—The Clay County grand jury, which has been in session here for the last three days investigating the lynching of Walter Mitchell, negro, by a mob in Excelsior Springs, last night was dismissed by Judge Walter S. Hughes of the Circuit Court.

The jury, in a written report, said it did not find enough evidence to return an indictment. More than 100 witnesses were questioned. Judge Hughes questioned the jury closely before dismissal, asking if it had given the evidence submitted "due consideration and earnest thought," and if they wished an attempt made to collect further evidence.

The jury with Raymond Cummins, Clay County prosecutor, and W. L. Vandeventer, assistant Attorney-General, who has been assisting in the questioning of witnesses, told Judge Hughes they knew "no place for person to turn to for further evidence."

GERMANS IMPROVE GOLD EXTRACTION FROM MERCURY

Experiments Yielding 10,000 Times as Much Now as They Did a Year Ago.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Increasing success of German scientists in obtaining gold from mercury is described in dispatches to the American Chemical Society, made public today.

Though far from being commercially profitable, the experiments of Professors Adolph Miethe and Stammreich now are yielding 10,000 times as much gold from the same amount of mercury as they did a year ago.

Such eminent a skeptic as Prof. Fritz Haber, whose synthetic ammonia process played a large part in German war plans, the society reports, has been won over.

By the improved process, electrical discharges are sent between mercury electrodes in a dielectric like paraffin. The gold is found in the mercury amalgam in the spark path in the ratio of one part of gold to 10,000 parts of mercury. From one kilogram of mercury one-tenth of a gram of gold can be obtained. Virtually all of the quicksilver is recovered and is used over and over again.

By the Associated Press.
WARSAW, Poland, Aug. 21.—Death sentences were pronounced today against three alleged communists captured in one of Warsaw's busiest streets July 17, after a pistol fight with detectives and subsequent chase. In which a score of persons were wounded, several fatally.

The sentences were passed in the face of the receipt by Premier Grabowski of a telegram from French and German communist groups.

CHARGES OFFICERS WITH BRUTALITY

George Lenhardt, Held in the Clayton Jail on a Warrant Charging him with the Murder of His Wife, Sadie Lenhardt, Told County Officers Today That He Was Beaten and Tortured at Night by Deputy Constables and Private Detectives in a Basement Room of the Courthouse in a Futile Effort to Make Him Confess.

George Lenhardt, held in the Clayton Jail on a warrant charging him with the murder of his wife, Sadie Lenhardt, told county officers today that he was beaten and tortured at night by deputy constables and private detectives in a basement room of the Courthouse in a futile effort to make him confess.

Dr. R. J. Schurter, county health commissioner, examined Lenhardt in the Sheriff's office, and said that he showed every evidence of having been beaten severely and continuously. The prisoner, who is 33 years old, was in a state of collapse, and had a temperature of 101.2 degrees. "He is a sick man, from the abuse he has suffered," the physician said. Sheriff Wilmas said after viewing the prisoner's condition, "It's the worst thing I ever saw."

Lenhardt was taken to the St. Louis City Hospital at noon, after having pleaded with the sheriff not to leave him at the jail any longer, as he feared the torture might be repeated. He will be held at the hospital, under arrangement still in force, for care of sick prisoners from the county.

His attorney, John A. Nolan, notified the prosecuting attorney's office that he would apply for warrants against all the men who were said to have taken part in the beating of the prisoner. Several warrants were prepared, to be issued when an affidavit is signed by Lenhardt.

Men Named by Attorney.

Those who were named to the attorney as having been present at different stages of the "third degree" proceedings were George Roth, Constable of Central Township; Deputy Constables George Marion, Sam Schuch, Ray Strain and Private Detective Arthur McNeely. Nolan said he expected to learn the names of others who were present.

Constable Roth, in speaking to reporters, said to George Lenhardt, a member of the County Court, who made an inquiry into the matter, said he saw the prisoner last evening, and that he gave orders to his deputies that the prisoner was not to be mistreated. He said he visited the office at 5 a. m. today. He said he saw no signs of abuse of the man then.

"There wasn't very much questioning about it," Lenhardt said in telling a Post-Dispatch reporter of his experience. "It was plain beating, kicking and pulling out my hair."

"They began beating me soon after my arrest, at 2:30 yesterday afternoon, when they took me for a ride. They drove off the main road, into a clump of woods. They had hoes and bills, and they would first knock me off the seat, then kick me and pull me up again by my hair."

"When they got me to the courthouse, about 5, they took me into the Constable's office, in the basement. They continued knocking me down and kicking me. Then they got handcuffs and fastened me up, with my arms as high as they would go, and my toes just touching the floor. They beat me with hoes and bills. They would ask me questions, and accuse and threaten me, but the main idea was to beat me. Once they hung me head downward, and twisted my body around, with my head just above the floor."

"The ordeal in the Constable's office lasted from 5 p. m. to 5 a. m., except for a short automobile ride taken before daylight. When the constables and detectives returned the prisoner to the jail he was in a state of collapse and had to be carried upstairs."

"The constables, who did not admit beating Lenhardt, said he was made to stand against the wall and that a noose rope was dangled in front of his face. They said he was not permitted to eat anything, to sit down or to doze, but that a few times he was given him."

The questioning, as described by the deputies, included accusations, threats and attempts to reconstruct

FRENCHMAN TO ATTEMPT TO SWIM CHANNEL TONIGHT

Weather Unfavorable, but Pooley Unwilling to Postpone Start—Egyptian May Try Tomorrow.

By the Associated Press.
BOULOGNE, France, Aug. 21.—George Pooley, a Frenchman, is the latest to attempt the swim across the English Channel. He will start between 9:30 and 10 o'clock tonight from Cape Gris-Nez, where Gertrude Ederle, the American star, entered the water on her recent unsuccessful attempt.

Weather conditions today were far from favorable, but M. Pooley is unwilling to postpone his start. Ishaka Helmy, Egyptian, is to make a trial tomorrow or Sunday. He has tentatively fixed the date to swim the English Channel. Gertrude Ederle will make another attempt to conquer the tempestuous waters of the 20 mile stretch between Cap Gris-Nez and Dover. She has tentatively fixed the date as Aug. 31 or Sept. 1, but must be governed to some extent by weather and water conditions.

Jabez Wolfe, who was the American girl's trainer, for her first test of endurance, who asserted prior to her attempt on Tuesday last that she had not followed his instructions closely enough, has given way to "Old Bill" Burgess one of the men who has successfully negotiated the Channel. The trainer of Miss Lillian Harrison.

Miss Harrison may take the water along with Miss Ederle for she has made up her mind to have a fifth try at the channel.

MISS CHARLOTTE RYAN
TO SING AT ORPHEUMMetropolitan Opera Soprano to Appear in Benefit Show
Tomorrow Evening

One of the outstanding numbers on the vaudeville program at the Orpheum Theater tomorrow evening for the benefit of the Post-Dispatch Ice Fund, will be the appearance of Miss Charlotte Ryan of the Metropolitan Opera Company, accompanied by Vittorio Verese, also of the Metropolitan, who is one of the conductors of "Aida" at the Municipal Theater. Miss Ryan's singing, however, is but one of the many acts which will be included in the vaudeville show, to be given under the direction of David Russell, Municipal Theater director. Already a more varied bill has been planned than anyone could possibly hope to see otherwise under the roof of one theater, and new attractions are being added each day.

Among the acts already programmed is "Shannon's" Playtime Frolics, a vaudeville novelty featuring a father and his daughters. The children in this feature are credited with unusual acrobatic talents, and the entertainment which they offer, with the assistance of their father, will be one of the "high-spots" on the bill. Captain Vic and Jeanne de la Farandole, fascinating fencers; Cliff Johnson, radio vocalist; Harry La Toy, comedy juggler; Wright Douglas & Co., presenting "Spark Plug," a talented child star, and many other entertainers are among those who promise worthwhile amusement for those attending the complimentary opening of the Orpheum.

The entire proceeds of the show will go to the benefit fund, as the work of all interested is volunteered for the occasion. Tickets, priced at $1, are on sale at the Statler-Cigar Stand and the Orpheum Theater box office.

ECZEMA ITCHED
AND BURNEDOn Face and Hands in Rash. Cuticura Healed.

"I suffered with eczema for about a year. It first broke out on my face and hands in a rash and was very annoying. It itched and burned terribly, and I could hardly wash my face. The irritation kept me awake at night."
"I tried several remedies but nothing seemed to do it any good. I heard about Cuticura Soap and Ointment and purchased some. After using a week I got relief so purchased more, and after using three boxes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Violet Copple, 110 Wood St., Logansport, Ind., Apr. 8, 1925.

Use Cuticura for all toilet purposes. Soap 25c, Ointment 25c and 50c. Tubes 25c and 50c. Address: Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. A, Boston, Mass. Cuticura Shaving Soap 25c.

STORE ROBBED WHILE HE PROSECUTES THIEF
Jeweler Loses Tray of Rings
Youth Who Used Toothache Ruse.

While Paul Koehler, jeweler, at 2307 South Jefferson avenue, was in Juvenile Court, Wednesday afternoon, to prosecute a thief he caught in his store, Aug. 6, another thief visited his store and escaped with a tray of eight diamond rings valued at $924.
In Koehler's absence, his wife, Matilda, was waiting on the trade. A young man entered at 2 p. m., holding his hand to his jaw and asked, "Has my wife, Mrs. Harris, been here?"
Mrs. Koehler said Mrs. Harris had not.
"That's funny," was the reply. "I had an engagement to meet her here at 1:30, but I got this terrible toothache, and had to see a dentist."
Mrs. Koehler gave the man a chair to wait for his wife. It must have been a bad toothache, for he groaned at several times. He also complained of the heat, and Mrs. Koehler went to a back room for a fan. When she returned, the chair was still beside the showcase, but the man had disappeared. When Koehler returned, he discovered the tray had disappeared from the showcase.
The youth caught by Koehler, Aug. 6, was George Brecht, 17 years old. He asked to be shown some rings, but Koehler was suspicious and displayed a revolver. Two jewelers identified Brecht as a "customer" who stole from them, and Wednesday Brecht pleaded guilty and was sentenced to two years in the Reformatory.

JUMPS 14 STORIES TO DEATH
CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—E. G. Hart, 29 years old, a salesman, committed suicide last night by jumping out of a window of the fourteenth floor of a downtown office building. His body was found crushed in an alleyway. The police attributed his act to despondency over lack of work and the illness of his wife.

NEURITIS

When you've tried everything you can think of and nothing seems to even relieve those piercing, agonizing pains, just go to Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., Johnson Bros. Drug Co., or some other good druggist and get a bottle of Allethru Special Formula No. 2. Be sure you get No. 2 which comes in capsule form, for the liquid form is a special preparation for Rheumatism.

Take three little dark green capsules as directed and notice how in about 24 hours they have considerably reduced, if not entirely banished, those persistent, nerve-racking pains that have caused you many sleepless nights. A few more doses and the pains have left you forever.

While this particular formula was compounded for the purpose of conquering painful, gouty conditions and what is known as Rheumatoid Arthritis—a painful swelling of the joints—it has proved wonderfully successful in all forms of Neuritis and Sciatic Nerve Pains.

You needn't be afraid of its composition, for it is made of the most reliable and safe ingredients and can only be used five times a day. The more you get Neuritis and then get Allethru Special Formula No. 2, the more pains will be gone before you know it.

ST. LOUIS COMMISSIONER TO SUE TO RECLAIM SALARY
Paid to Janitor, Whom He Fired and Who Was Re-Hired by Vote of City Council.
A renewal of the tilt between City Commissioners M. J. Whalen and Ralph Cook of the City Council of East St. Louis, which nearly came to fistbuffs Monday, ended yesterday's session of the body. "I will give you until Monday to explain your remark," Whalen said to Cook. "If you have anything on me bring it out; if on my brother (James Whalen, chief of the East St. Louis Fire Department) I will personally bring charges against him."

The incident Monday occurred in the course of a defense of Chief of Police Barry by Whalen in which he accused Cook of "running around the city hall making charges" while intoxicated. "Yes, just like you and your brother," was Cook's reported retort. In yesterday's verbal passage, Cook replied by referring to a recent fire in a jewelry and house furnishing establishment. "Look that up and you will know what I meant," he said to Whalen. He offered no further explanation of his statement.

Approval of the payroll of city employees provoked another heated passage. Commissioner John Connors, in charge of the Health Department, and also Commissioner of Public Buildings, protested the payment of $17.50 salary to Robert Miller, a negro janitor, whom he discharged July 8, for alleged activities in behalf of a carnival proprietor seeking a license, and who was re-employed by a majority vote of three of the five commissioners. Connors cited an ordinance, which he construed as lodging complete power of discharge of subordinate employees in himself, and announced he would bring legal action to reclaim the salary paid the janitor after his discharge.

Protest Against Building Fence.
An injunction suit filed at Clayton yesterday by the trustees of the Wydown Forest subdivision, directed against Alonso C. Church, son of Mrs. Rolla Wells, asked that he be enjoined from inclosing his property at 7631 Shirley drive with a wooden fence. Under the property restrictions, the petition points out, only private hedges or wire fences are allowed in the district.

WISCONSIN U. REJECTS GIFT OF $600,000

Legislature Likely to Force Board to Accept Rockefeller Donation.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. MADISON, Wis., Aug. 21. — It was learned here today that the recent action of the board of regents of the University of Wisconsin, in refusing to accept endowments from corporate bodies, has deprived the State university of an endowment of $600,000 for the erection of a new medical school.

The money was to have been given by the General Education Board, endowed by John D. Rockefeller. The regents recently went on record by a vote of 9 to 6 against accepting any "Rockefeller dollar."

The regents at that time stated that they did not want the university to be under any obligation to great corporate interests.

For many years the acceptance of endowment gifts by the university has been sanctioned by the Legislature, and since 1915 gifts amounting to about $100,000 annually have been given to the school.

A definite fight will be made at the next Legislature to force the board of regents to accept the $600,000 Rockefeller gift for the medical school.

SAN ANGELO, Tex., Aug. 21.—A spectacular blaze, that seemed to burst at once from all three stories of the Landon Hotel here, destroyed it and damaged adjacent property with an aggregate loss of $150,000 yesterday. Four persons, three guests and the desk clerk, were slightly burned.

mistress of the Brown Derby Musical Comedy Co., at the Hotel Hollis here, May 31. Corey was not released, but was held on a charge of desertion from the United States army.

CHIEF GERK'S TWENTY-SIXTH ANNIVERSARY AS POLICEMAN

Head of Department Started in Service as Probationary Patrolman on Aug. 21, 1899.

Chief of Police Gerck today is receiving congratulations on his twenty-sixth anniversary as a police officer, for it was on Aug. 21, 1899, that he was one of 300 young men who were commissioned probationary patrolmen in a reorganization of the Police Department.

"Those were the good old days," said the Chief, reflectively. "We got $65 a month and worked 12 hours a day."

Patrolman Gerck was promoted from probationary to regular patrolman after five months as special recognition for the rescue of two boys who had fallen through ice on a pond in Lyon Park.

Capt. Charles Maupin of Central District, and Lieut. James Moran of Souldard-Street Station also are of the class of '99.

U. R. WANTS TO RUN BUSES WHENEVER CARS ARE BLOCKED

Application for permission to operate buses temporarily whenever street car service may be seriously interrupted by blockades was filed today with the Board of Service by the United Railways.

General Manager Percival stated that the substitute service was not expected to be remunerative financially, but was designed to minimize inconvenience. As an instance of the occasions when it would be helpful to operate buses temporarily, the application pointed to the seven-hour interruption of service by Bellefontaine cars due to poles and trees falling across the California avenue tracks at 84th street in the heavy wind and rain storm on the evening of Aug. 12.

WOMAN ATTACKED AND BEATEN

Mrs. Julia Horn, 29 years old, of 6414 Wanda avenue, was crossing a foot bridge over a ravine near 4400 Kansas street at 3 p. m. yesterday, when a man, who had followed her onto the bridge, struck her in the back of the neck, knocking her down.

As she fell he grasped her purse, opened it and extracted $32, after which he threw the purse away and fled.

MASTER PLUMBERS ASK FOR SUPPORT

Seek Backing of Building Contractors in Rejection of Wage Demands.

Determination to reject the increased wage demands of Plumbers Local Union No. 33 was expressed by officers of the Master Plumbers Association today in a letter to the local building contractors, soliciting the support of the contractors in the wage dispute.

The union's demand for a wage increase of $2 daily, made last month, followed the withdrawal July 1 of the Master Plumbers Association from the Associated Building Interests of St. Louis, an organization that has been successful in combatting wage demands here.

Following the receipt of the union's demand, the master plumbers sought the support of the Associated Building Interests in the dispute. The Group Council of that body meets today to pass on the matter, and it is expected the solicited support will be granted, as it is generally believed that the granting of an increase in wages to the plumbers would result in similar demands by other local building crafts.

The increased demand by the union would raise the scale from $12 to $14 per day. The union demanded that the increase become effective Sept. 1, although the working agreement with employers does not expire until February next. While officers of the union have declined to comment on the situation, the employers believe a strike will be called as employers have voted to reject compromise offers involving any wage increase.

DEBT SETTLEMENT WITH FRANCE ON CAPACITY TO PAY

Statement by Treasury Put Forth to Emphasize That Belgian Agreement Is Not a Precedent.

ACCRUED INTEREST
CONCESSIONS LIKELY

Plan of American Commission
Would Substantially
Amount to a Moratorium
During First Years.

Post-Dispatch Bureau,
28-29 Wyatt Building,
WASHINGTON, AUG. 21.—

France will be asked to settle her war debt on the basis of her "capacity to pay," and the case of France, Italy and each debtor nation will be settled on its merits distinct from other settlements.

This statement has been put forth authoritatively from the Treasury, serving further to emphasize the Belgian agreement is to set no precedent. Members of the Debt Commission assert that Belgium is being assessed on her capacity to pay and the American Commissioners feel Belgium is to repay all that her financial situation will permit.

The plan of the American Commission will be to make concessions in accrued interest, substantially amounting to a moratorium during the first years, but to collect the bulk of France's $4,219,000,000 debt in 42 years, with interest at 3½ per cent. This is the governing principle in each of the agreements so far concluded.

Reports that the United States Debt Commission has tried to influence foreign armaments and sought to force Belgium or France to reduce their military establishment are unfounded, according to Treasury and State Department officials, who say this would be unpardonable meddling in the domestic affairs of other nations.

Doelridge Formally Approves Terms of Debt Settlement.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Aug. 21.—President Coolidge last night approved the Belgian debt settlement.

The agreement rushed from Washington to Swampscott in a special mail pouch, was brought from the summer White House to Northampton in a White House automobile by E. C. Geisser, personal stenographer for the President. Mr. Geisser was here when the President arrived from Plymouth, Vt., for an overnight stay.

The President's signature to the agreement leaves the next step, so far as the American Government is concerned, up to Congress which under the provisions of the act creating the Debt Funding Commission, must ratify all settlements.

Agreement Gives France Hope of More Favorable Terms.

Copyright, 1925 by the Press and Publisher Publishing Co., The New York World and the Post-Tribune.

PARIS, Aug. 21.—Belgium's debt arrangement with the United States has raised hope here that when the French delegates meet the American commission in Washington they will be able to get a more favorable settlement than had hitherto been believed. This decision made between the Belgian war debt and those contracted subsequently is taken as an especially encouraging factor, as well as Washington's admission that President Wilson's promises regarding certain moral obligation through the Versailles treaty.

The Government organ, calculated that if France be treated on the same footing as Belgium, she will be expected to pay annuities to the United States rising from $40,000,000 in 1925 to $120,000,000 in 1926.

Meanwhile, Finance Minister Caillaux is preparing to return to London to negotiate a settlement of the French debt to England. The British want annuity payments of $8,000,000 sterling ($100,000,000) Caillaux will not admit more than $6,000,000.

The French Debt Commission, which will sail on the steamer Paris for the United States, Sept. 16, in all probability headed by the Finance Minister, will be definitely appointed at the next cabinet meeting.

The Marin says the commission must certainly will include Senator Henry Berenger, reporter of the Budget Committee; Senator Francis Chappais, president of the Finance Committee; and Vincent Auriol, Socialist and former president of the budget committee of the Chamber; Dep-

Maurice Bokanowski, former member of the budget committee; Pierre de Chambrun, and Joseph Simon, a banker and formerly director of the financial section of the French High Commission.

The Jesse James Serial.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THERE is but one fault in your interesting serial of Jesse James and his times. That is that you do not make clear to this fat, easy generation the furious intensity of the passions that raged among the men of the '50s and '60s and produced such types as the Jameses. Abolition, free-soil are mere words today; in the '50s and '60s they set men on fire. The issue developed into savage personal warfare, family against family.

Only by personal testimony of the actors in that drama can we grasp the madness that swayed all. In such a state, amid the ferocities of the border warfare, the Jameses and Youngers were raised. They gave "the full measure of devotion" to the Lost Cause and followed their lights as they saw them. Dispossessed and impoverished by Appomattox, there is perhaps some excuse for their wild, lawless years later, as enemies of the ordered ways. For the deeds and lives of the Jameses were somehow bound up, even conformed, as Schiller's "Robbers." Fra Diavolo, Missions and Kansas, and upon the fierce family and neighborhood feuds engendered by that strife and by the desperate guerrilla fighting in which the James boys and the Younger brothers engaged. This foundation for the narrative was laid solidly.

St. Louis, Aug. 20, 1923.
(Apparently "Antiquarian" failed to read the first few chapters of "The Rise and Fall of Jesse James." In those chapters the author dwelt at length and with emphasis upon the very things which our correspondent seems to believe have not been stressed sufficiently. Mr. Love took particular pains to build his entire narrative upon the vivid background of the "free-soil fight" between Missions and Kansas, and upon the fierce family and neighborhood feuds engendered by that strife and by the desperate guerrilla fighting in which the James boys and the Younger brothers engaged. This foundation for the narrative was laid solidly.

Would Fill All the Jails.

THE Illinois law you criticize in your issue of Aug. 14, would if enacted in Missouri, put an end to the talk of compulsory liability insurance with the State acting as insurer.

A policy covering liability and property damage would be a much more convenient thing to have around one than a judgment creditor ready to pay your board for at least 180 days.

The latest "victim" of this "crucel" legislation did not attend her trial and defend herself, and did not even make any effort to indemnify the victim of her recklessness. What is so cruel about jailing her?

JAILEM.

"Under the Lid."

PROFOUND respect is due the intelligent man who makes an honest effort to know the truth. I have such respect for such a man who in spite of intelligence believes prohibition is not the best way of overcoming and exterminating a terrible evil that had become deeply rooted in American life. Possibly he is right.

I should feel very derelict in my duty as a Christian and citizen of St. Louis were I to take an exception to your deep regret, not to say indignation, after observing the utter disregard for truth, righteousness and respect for the Constitution of our country, reflected in the prohibition canon on your editorial page of Aug. 19, 1923. The conditions depicted did exist before prohibition and we must admit still exist to some extent. If these conditions are possible under prohibition as now enforced, what would conditions be had we kept the open saloon?

I believe I am voicing the opinion of the rank and file of the Christian law-abiding people of this community when I say you are exerting a very destructive influence by persisting in this propaganda against the Constitution.

MILTON F. REITZ.

Gen. Lytle's Poem.

THE verse quoted in the Maj. John N. Edwards editorial, reprinted in "The Rise and Fall of Jesse James," is from a poem by Gen. Lewis Henry Little, composed the night before the battle of Iuka, Sept. 19, 1862. "The Death of Anthony," it is said that Gen. Little, who was a gallant Confederate officer, had a premonition that he would be among the fatalities in the impending battle. He was killed the next day.

(You are wrong. The title of the poem is "Anthony and Cleopatra," and it is to be found in William Cullen Bryant's well-known anthology. It was written by Gen. William Malnes Lytle, not Little, a brief biography of whom you will find in Encyclopedia Americana. He was killed at the battle of Chickamauga.—Ed. Post-Dispatch.)

HOW THE PRIMARY WORKS.

Virginia held a State primary a short time ago for the nomination for Governor in which 175,000 votes were cast. It was considered an unusually heavy vote. As was pointed out in an editorial reprinted in our Mirror Column on Tuesday, Virginia in 1920 had 1,192,400 eligible voters. Disregarding the probable increase in voting population since then, only a fraction more than 10 per cent of Virginia's citizens took part in this primary. The figure gains disquieting significance when it is considered (1) that in this contest the nomination was equivalent to election and (2) it was a wet and dry battle, in which the Antislavery League belligerently supported its standard bearer, who was defeated.

More recently a number of Ohio cities held local primaries. In some of those municipalities 8 per cent of the registered vote was cast. The capital, Columbus, where a City Council was nominated, polled 7 per cent. There might be nothing especially disturbing in this overwhelming apathy if Virginia and Ohio were peculiarly reprehensible. They are not. The same refusal to participate in primary elections obtains everywhere. There are percentage differences, to be sure, but everywhere the minority is nominating our candidates for public office, everywhere the majority is disfranchising itself.

The primary is worse than a farce. It is a menace. This contrivance, in its practical operation, is establishing minority rule and lowering the standard of personal capacity and responsibility in public affairs. Yet some of its proponents not only refuse to be discouraged by the ghastly consequences but are enthusiastically in favor of a national primary, which they solemnly assert will drive the bosses from power and place the selection of presidential candidates in the hands of the people.

That is demonstrated buncombe. The primary does not work in any unit. Distressed by the latest proof of its futility in its home city of Columbus, as well as in other towns, the Ohio State Journal wants to know, "What is to be done about the primary?" Why not junk it? Why not restore the representative method of nominating candidates for public office, with legal safeguards that will protect the delegate convention from the abuses that made it objectionable? Either that, or voting in the primary should be made a requirement for eligibility to vote in elections.

VICTOR F. LAWSON.
Even though Victor F. Lawson developed the Chicago Daily News from a struggling little sheet into one of the largest and most prosperous newspaper properties in the country, he was not a great editor. The Greeleys, the Bennetts, the Pulitzers and the Waterstones were interested in public affairs and in public opinion, and had a profound effect on both. They were interested in making their newspapers powerful forces in the life of the nation. Throughout his life, though enormously successful from a financial standpoint, Lawson was never a leading combatant in the stresses and storms of national problems.

Whether he had no flair for editorial power, or whether he was uninterested, remains for his biographer to disclose. At any rate, he was primarily a publisher, rather than an editor. He introduced the penny newspaper to Chicago and filled it with love stories, cooking recipes, fashion articles, puzzles and games, fairy tales and that sort of thing. It was a new note in journalism, this magazine type of daily newspaper, and the people of Chicago liked it enormously. Lawson's paper was the kind that could be pored over for hours by women and children in the home. Its news columns were adequate, but never excluded the mass of miscellany for which the paper has always been noted. Its editorials, able and dignified, lacked the passion of intense conviction.

But, though Lawson's own newspaper made no vital contribution to journalism per se, Lawson himself did. He and Melville Stone were leading figures in the foundation of the Associated Press, that news-gathering agency which has been of inestimable importance in raising the standards of American journalism. Its policy of printing facts, uncolored by opinion, has made it the greatest institution of its kind in the world, and Lawson's part in its establishment will forever be gratefully associated with his memory.

It was the driest summer for gardeners, the wettest summer for outdoor actors and the coldest summer for Arctic explorers.

RIDING FOR THEIR LIVES.
Moving picture audiences have been somewhat puzzled by films of officers at the Fort Riley (Kan.) Cavalry School dashing pell mell over embankments and doing Brodies into creeks as if they were in retreat before a superior force of airplane gunners. The explanation of these rides for life is now at hand. They were preparing a motion picture entitled "The Life of Riley," which has just been released for War Department and congressional consumption.

The cavalry soldier is seeking to prove his right to exist. His object in risking his neck in daring acrobatics is to show doubting critics that the cavalryman can do all the infantryman is able to do. If these are perilous times for pacers of the battleship deck, they are, no less dangerous to riders of the horse. The cavalry officer is the aristocrat of the army, most Generals, Pershing included, have chosen to hold commissions with mounted troopers. But since the development of trench warfare military strategists have been put to it to fit the cavalry into the new scheme of things. Barbed-wire entanglements and machine-gun fire have threatened the cavalry in much the same way that aircraft and submarines have threatened the battleship. Modernists are saying that both must pass.

Shades of Phil Sheridan and Theodore Roosevelt, bear witness; this must not be! Whatever the truth of its military value, the cavalry has a sentimental value which should not be underestimated. Let the sabers clank and the bugle sound the charge. Sometime, somewhere, enemies will break into retreat over passable terrain and our cavalrymen can slice off their heads. Airplane engines will stall and the cavalry can again be the eyes of the army. If soldiers are necessary at all, then cavalry soldiers are as necessary as any other, and much more dashing, more romantic.

Unlike Belgium, France and Italy can look forward to no lack of interest in their debt settlements.

THE POOR MAN'S TAXES.

Cabinet members and Congressmen are talking energetically about the apportionment of tax reduction among the various classes of incomes—the high surtax brackets, the $12,000, the $5000 and $4000 incomes. But who is talking about a reduction of taxes for the $2000 and $1500 men and those of even lesser earnings?

The discussion, in fact, has begun, but as yet is far from attracting general attention. Representative W. A. Oldfield of Arkansas, chairman of the National Democratic Congressional Committee, told Nebraska Democrats the other night that his party would accept the Coolidge challenge on the tariff and demand slashing reductions in the cost of living. The term "legalized larceny" which the President applied to present income tax rates was turned by Oldfield against the administration's tariff law.

Though not regarding it as a matter of tax reduction, President Green of the American Federation of Labor, as already noted in these columns, has called upon the President and Congress for sweeping reductions in the textile schedules because New England mill operators, by reducing wages, have removed the only reason of the workers for supporting the tariff.

A report recently issued by the Department of Labor on the cost of living shows that wholesale prices for July, 1923, have risen 6.34 per cent over those of a year ago. This rise is not due to the tariff but to more normal prices of farm products, stimulated by a shortage of world production. It shows, however, that the average of commodity prices, most of which are affected by the tariff, would have been higher the past few years had it not been for overproduction of agricultural products. With fair prices to the farmer the only relief possible in the general cost of living must be found in reduced tariff schedules.

War taxes for the laborer, the clerk, the motorman, the newsboy, the woman wage worker, are still in effect. Tax reduction through a lowered cost of living would be tax reduction for all of us.

CLOCK PINCHERS AND PUNCHERS.

There is ominous suggestion in the brief paragraph of police news which relates that thieves take a time clock belonging to the city, from the park guards' headquarters in Forest Park.

As taxpayers we can stand the loss of the $125 apparatus for recording the arrival and departure of the park guards. Perhaps the guards can get along without it until the city can afford another. But what did the thieves want with it? They can hardly have hoped to sell it. They must have taken it for their own use.

The use of time clocks would appear to mark a new step in the progress of organized crime. The slipshod methods will no longer be tolerated in the underworld. Burglars and holdup men must punch the clock as they start forth from some crime center, and must register in like manner their return with the loot. We may next expect to hear of the development of a new specialist—the crime efficiency expert, whose rigorous requirements may turn some weary crooks to the easier ways of right living.

THE GREAT POLAR GAME.

Another great sporting event in the news has turned out disappointingly. Because of unusual weather the MacMillan Arctic expedition has been obliged to abandon its major program for the present year and will devote itself to scientific observations within the range of its present main base at Etah, Greenland.

The MacMillan party, of course, is scientific in purpose, is supported by a scientific society and commands the interest of the scientific world. But to the general public, the great mass of newspaper readers, it is a sporting event, as are other Arctic expeditions, as are political elections, Scopes trials, Kentucky cave rescues, channel swimnings and anything else of prominence of which the outcome is doubtful because hotly contested or because beset with danger and difficulty.

If only one man in a quarter of a million of the population is directly interested in new scientific information obtained in the Arctic the other hundreds of thousands delight to contemplate the adventure itself, the wonders to be revealed, the perils to be faced, the freedom of the party from the conventions and routine of civilization, the queer natives encountered, the game ranging in its native haunts, the intense battles with ice and wind and wave, the incredible temperatures and the nights spent in rude lodgings at far-flung outposts in the cruel elements.

Sporting event? The North Pole once has succumbed to human contact. But the world still looks for white hopes who will trample it again or thread their way to some other terrible and elusive region whose only value lies in the fact that it has never been seen before. The world eagerly follows the trail of men who dare and do.

A CORKING BASEBALL FINISH.

Wilted August is staging a corking baseball race. Pittsburgh, in front in the National League, is but two games ahead of New York, while the American League leaders, Philadelphia and Washington, are separated only by the impalpable margin of a few decimal points. If none of these contenders cracks down the September stretch 1923 will add a Homer to our diamond epic.

The surprise of the season is the performance of the Athletics—Philadelphia's American League team. This team is piloted by the gray and solemn Connie Mack, veteran of heaven knows how many campaigns, winner of many championships, but who for 10 years or more has been in hopeless eclipse. By what process or alchemy Mr. Mack has contrived to mold a misfit aggregation into a pennant bidder is a miracle for the experts to explain if they can, but it is a question which the St. Louis fan may properly direct to the heads of the local teams. Why is it that other cities can grovel in the dust and suddenly mount the heights, while our Browns and Cardinals trudge along in drab mediocrity, never quite so bad as the worst, yet never qualifying as the best?

Perhaps the question cannot be answered. But it is something for our local magnates seriously to ponder. For our fans grow weary with hope deferred. St. Louis as a baseball town is fading. It needs a contender in just such a driving finish as four cities are now breathlessly watching, if the old enthusiasm is to be revived. St. Louis needs more—it needs a winner and St. Louis fans deserve a winner.

A DUMB DISCUSSION.

Lord Howe Dumb: Well, Orville, what with the Paper Hangers' Strike coming on, and the paper coming off, and Prohibition and Inhibition still being disregarded, I don't know what there is to discuss this afternoon.

Orville Lee Dumb: I see Coolidge did a little motoring the other day in the rain, and I don't suppose anyone remarked that there was a killing frost, and on the 28th of the same month all vegetation was killed by a frost which stripped the leaves from the trees. Here enters the local station of the U. S. Weather Bureau, which produces the forecasts kept by Dr. George Engelmann from 1832 until shortly before Government records were first taken here in 1871. According to the doctor the coldest weather we had here in the summer of 1861 was on Aug. 18, when it was 49. Dr. Hayes, the local forecaster, thinks 49 would permit only a very light frost. Anyway, Henry is bowled out flat enough. How would you like to be deprived in your latter years of your favorite story, your veritable marmoset opus, your competition allencer in many a Joust with the long bow? Henry has no record—only the story he has told from that day to this—a story uncorroborated by science. He naturally does not feel kindly towards science, just as Mr. Bryan didn't in the Scopes case. It is, indeed, an infernal nuisance. It lays the world of fact down beside the world of imagery, and no crueler comparison is possible. Our sympathy is with Henry. The story he had was worth telling, while the fact isn't worth anything. This is a really very dull story. So get what Homer called the unequal fight.

The painstaking writer looks to his commas. This often disgusts the printer, who considers commas as having a decorative quality rather than a meaning. Resetting a line to get a comma in or take one out is likely to be his notion of lost motion. Nevertheless, the comma is the most important of all the punctuation marks. Whether printed things are readily understandable or not depends rather more upon commas than anything else. Probably no law case was ever remanded by a court of review because of a misplaced semicolon or a badly-used dash, but it is notorious that cases have been remanded because of commas. Champ Clark used to tell a story illustrating what commas can do. In a colloquy with a Kansas Congressman over the comparative merits of Kansas and Missouri, the Missourian listened respectfully while the Kansan told this story: A Kansan usually is very dull. So lately moving to Missouri, he was unfortunately and the caravan was ready to move when his little girl got down on her knees in front of the house and said, "Good bye, God. We're going back to Missouri." Champ said: "The story is correct except for the misuse of a comma. What the little girl said was, 'Good, by God we're going back to Missouri!'"

Lord Howe Dumb: Off of lemon or chlorine for the wicked stepmother—

Knox O. Dumb: And what I consider my best touch, in the final scene where Cinderella tries on the glass slipper, a heavy blanket of foot powder slowly descends upon the audience.

Lord Howe Dumb: Remarkable! Remarkable! We must tell that to Mr. Gustakoff.

Lord Howe Dumb: Remarkable! One thing may be at least said for mothers-in-law: They have inspired no popular songs.

THEODORE TRILSEY.

TWADDLE.

ONE of the Hearst papers gives us this remarkable expression, with reference to the American aviators who have joined the French in the war on the Rhine.

"Whether they know it or not, they do good work for civilization every time they drop a bomb to convince the Riff that the Almighty is on their side."

Thus this sanguinary observation is included by advising this country to "make the Rhine French in making civilization and the fight for white man rule on the African and Eastern lights."

The miracle of the chorus was that it earned the first notes of "Aida" only three weeks ago. Since that time it has been the pick of the city's professional singers, and to the volunteer chorus of 225, also the pick of its dance attellers.

Bombs dropped by aviators in France will not be "to convince the Riffs that the Almighty is on their side." The Riffs are not the Almighty. BY RICHARD L. STOKES.
MORE the Lohengrin of opera, the "Aida" of the Municipal Theater, from the spoils of an impious sorcery. If ever an inanimate object rejoiced it was this audience on finding itself last night in the service of noble uses.
It could almost be seen awakening
from the stupor of a twelvemonth, gathering up its majestic limbs and rising to its full stature, erect and free.
Many St. Louisans felt a sharp urge to find opportunity for the superb dramatic achievement of the summer should have been compelled to abandon the famous theater possessed by their city and build one of his own in the suburbs. We saw "Electra" banned from the Municipal Theater to make place for "Emmie". But with the first utterance of the orchestra last night, a voice spoke in music with the serene authority, the spontaneous grandeur, of a genius equal to that of Sophocles in tragedy. It was the voice of Giuseppe Verdi, and the work was his masterpiece, "Aida."

"Aida" an Outdoor Opera.
This opera, with its cyprian charms, both vocal and instrumental, its multitudinous ceremonies and its thronging ballets, seems to have the walls of the indoor playhouse and demand open-air production. It might have been written to order for the state dimensions of the Municipal Theater.
Massive quantity was present, for probably 400 persons participated in the triumphal entry of the second act, and more was not sheer size, but the fastidious quality of the production. Gone were the exasperations of amateur fumbling, and the spirit settled that produced the European masters of the theater, for the spectacle of skill,
order and intelligence.

This quality of expertise was confined to the admirable professional orchestra. It extended also to the volunteer chorus of 225
St. Louisans, the pick of the city's professional singers, and to the ballet of 50, modern the pick of the dance world.

Working a Modern Miracle.
The miracle of the chorus was that it learned the first notes of "Aida" only three weeks ago. Since then it has mastered not only
"Aida" but "Cavalleria Rusticana" and a difficult and tough
new opera, "The Music Robber." Isaac Van Grove, who trained not merely as a chorus-master
but as a conductor, emerged in triumph from the vasty deep, and they came when he did call for the quick wits, the integrity and the devotion of this selected band of St. Louis men and women.

Veterans of many operatic presentations marveled aloud at the performance of the chorus. Its tone was fresh, sweet and pure,
and its power, when called upon,
was like a thunderclap. But the most surprising thing was the ease with which it had acquired in a few rehearsals—its sharpness of attack and release, its flexibility of pace and dynamics, its endless variety of accent. More than once the effects of choral song—that plaintive melody delivered softly and sustained by hundreds of voices.
Triumph of the Ballet.
The ballet fully shared in the triumph. The young girls had also received only a brief and intensive training under Miss Florence Rudolph of the Metropolitan, but performed their evolutions with grace, precision and flowing confidence. One of the delicious moments of the performance came when Miss Rudolph pirouetting like a bird of air, while the band sounded a blare, was joined by a chorus of girls in flame costumes behind her.
Among the principals there occurred several achievements of drama. Mme. Escobar appeared to me to bring forth the most tender and pathetic aspect of the drama, more poignantly usual; and her singing, particularly in the lyrical Nile scene, was less than exquisite. Mr.
Lamont gave the role of Radames

Social Activities

RETURNING FROM ABROAD

WHILE daily gossip of the travels and activities of St.
Louis travelers and visitors comes back to the stay-at-homes, one of the most interesting accounts recently received, centers around Mr. and Mrs. Hays Bunting, who are making a world tour,
who are making a world tour.
Mr. and Mrs. Hays sailed for Honolulu on the Royal Mail Line steamer Aorangi from Vancouver July 29. Other St. Louisans on board were Mrs. Frederick D.
Gardner and daughter, Miss Janet Gardner, of 4501 West Pine boulevard. Their fellow passengers included the press delegation of English noblemen. The St. Louisans participated in all the entertainments and contests staged for the royal guests. In the deck quail contest Mrs. Bunting defeated Lady Carr in the semifinals. Honors, however, were lost to St. Louis
when Lady Violet Astor defeated
Mrs. Bunting in the finale.
Mr. and Mrs. Bunting will extend their tour around the world. Mrs.
Gardner and Miss Janet Gardner will return to the United States
about the middle of September.

Mrs. James Oliver Vossler of Jacksonville, Ill., is visiting her brother, Dr. Willard Bartlett, during the absence of Mrs. Bartlett and sons in Europe.
Mrs. Philip A. Becker, of 3483
Loggellow place, has returned from Rex Terrace, Mich. Her father, William H. Dittman and Philip A. Becker Jr., returned with her.
Miss Virginia Dittman Becker, who spent the summer as a guest at Camp Waukegan at Torch Lake, Mich., also has returned home to continue her studies at Washington University the coming year.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Joseph Sheehan, of 6233 Washington boulevard, have sent out invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Miss Margaret Mary Sheehan, and O'Neill Francis Farrington, which will take place
Wednesday, Sept. 9, at 6 p. m. at St. Roch's Church, Rosedale and Warman avenue. A reception at the residence of the bride's parents will follow the church ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Cupples
Scudder of the Country Club
Grounds are home from Denver, Colo., where they visited Mrs. Scud-der's sister, Mrs. Campbell Smith, of New York.

Miss Josephine Guhman, of 4513
Washington boulevard, was the honored guest at a luncheon given by her aunt, Mrs. John E. Cramer of 7100 Lindell boulevard. Covered were 20 guests. The luncheon was in the nature of a farewell entertainment, as Miss Guhman departs Sunday for a month's stay at Estes Park, Colo., following which she will attend college at Loretto Heights, Denver, Colo.

Miss Florence Weigel, of 933
Hamilton avenue, and Miss Martha Cannole of East St. Louis have returned from a motor trip to the Northern Lakes.
Mrs. Richard Babbitt of Toronto,
Canada, who has been the guest of Mrs. F. C. Riddle of 5878 Cabanne avenue for the last several months, returned home yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver L. Garrison, of 81 Aberdeen place, have returned from a motor trip through the East.
Mr. and Mrs. J. Kaiser, of 4033
Shaw avenue, accompanied by their daughter, Miss Alice, and their son, Lyman, have returned from a six weeks' stay at Manitou Springs, Colo.

More serious was the use of flat stage sets, harking back to a period outgrown in this city.
A false note was struck by the use of horses with modern saddles and bridles in the second act climax.
The principals sang in Italian and the chorus in English. All should have sung in English.

Applause Was Ardent.
Despite unfavorable weather, an audience of perhaps 5000 was present, giving augury of capacity houses as the season progresses and if the skies remain clear. The applause was frequent and enthusiastic, and, had encores been permitted, several might have been given. It was generally agreed that this "Aida" was the most beautiful, elevated and expert performance even given at the Municipal Theater. Tremendously imposing was the scene of the victorious return of Radames with the entire chorus and ballet on the stage, and a band of 16 thundering from a platform in antiphony to the orchestra.

"Aida" will be repeated tonight, with Miss Charlotte Ryan of the Metropolitan making her debut as Aida, and with Manuel Salazar as Radames. Mme. Rhea Tomolo will make her American debut as Am-neris. Otherwise the cast will remain as before, and Mr. Van Grove will direct.

311,644 VISITORS SET RECORD FOR MUSEUM

Annual Report of City Art Institution Also Shows Gift of 21 Items.

Greatest demand among those desiring special guidance at the City
Art Museum, has been for general tours throughout the galleries of varied objects. This is noted in the annual report made public last night. Special exhibitions for definite periods have been next in order of demand. Almost equal to the latter in attraction have been the painting galleries, the Egyptian room, the classical collection and the sculpture.

This sort of guidance comes under the Educational Department of the museum, which, in various ways, served 17,424 persons during the year, a gain of 50 per cent over the previous year. Included in this total were 9816 school children who went with their teachers for special instruction, of whom 2313 were from out of the city. There was a large increase in attendance at the story hour for children and more women's clubs than previously held meetings at the museum.

311,644 Visit Museum.
The museum's turnstiles were passed by 311,644 persons during the year, a record number in the museum's 16 years, and larger by $749 than in the previous year.
There were 12 major and seven minor special exhibitions during the year. Outstanding among these were the autumn exhibition of paintings by American artists, the Spanish paintings by the Zubiarrbrothers and the works of Eugene Francis Savage.

21 Items Donated.
Twenty-one items were added to the museum's collections during the year by gift and 313 by purchase.
$32,338 being spent. A museum announcement concerning the report says:

"Paintings added include an important example of the French school of the sixteenth century, the "Portrait of a Banker," dated 1522, by an unknown artist. The Charles Parsons collection has been augmented by the purchase of the "Portrait of a Woman" by Jacob Gerritz Cuyt and the "Portrait of a Man" by Lorenzo Lotto. A painting, "Landscape with Cattle," by Marie Dicierle, was presented by Louis Wertheim of St. Louis, and paintings by Albert Rosenthal of Philadelphia, Edward B. Butler of Chicago and Hiroshi Yoshida of Japan were presented by the respective artists. Thirty-seven objects were added in the Egyptian room. A number of excellent pieces are included in this number—well known objects from famous European collections. Among them are a statuette in black basalt of a man with effigy of Osiris, a fine necklace in gold of the Ptolemaic period, several important historical scarabs, including one of the mar-

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to reproduce without bias the latest comment by the leading publicists, newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

TWADDLE

ONE of the Hearst papers gives vent to this remarkable expression, with reference to the American aviators who have joined the French in the war on the Riffs.
"Whether they know it or not, they will do good work for civilization every time they drop a bomb to convince the Riffs that Mohammed and his teachings do not represent the Almighty."

This sanguinary observation is concluded by advising this country to "remember that France is making civilization's fight and the fight for white man rule on earth
in her African and Eastern fighting."

But the Riffian war is not a war for a religious, but a nationalistic cause. Therefore, the dictum as to the Almighty's choice of a terrestrial representative is entirely out of place.
Bombs dropped by aviators in Morocco will not be "to convince the Riffs that Mohammed and his teachings do not represent the Almighty." They will be dropped in order that the European masters of the Moors may continue to hold the copper, iron and lead mines of the Atlas Mountains and other commercial advantages of the colonial empire. That France is "making a fight for white man rule on earth" is twaddle. No threatened invasion of French domains made it necessary for France to penetrate and subdue Northern Africa. The conqueror is not trying to civilize and better the lot of the miserable natives in the Arab towns and villages of Morocco and the Sahara.
France is not trying to teach the Arab self-government nor encouraging education and thrift. But the great ambition of the "empire" Abd-el-Krim is said to be to spread literacy and scientific knowledge among his people.

NOW YOU KNOW WHAT JAZZ IS.
From the Detroit News.
MRS. GERTRUDE EDERLE, American swimmer, before attempting to swim
the English Channel, was told that she would be accompanied by a band, to cheer her on her way.

"No stringed instruments can be included," ruled Miss Ederle. "We want real American jazz—hard-boiled music. Nothing in the minor chord for me."
Right there that young lady, in her few,
well-chosen words, illuminated the entire field of modern music. The trombone, the saxophone, the xylophone are all fighting instruments, in her estimation, and she is right. We all have known it right along, we just didn't put it into words. The night of the prayer, the sob, the high application of the violin are for people of soft nature, who are content to love their homes and families; who dream of beauty and of high deeds, and often accomplish them. They are not for the robust spirits who accomplish physical feats before accomplishing the sex to which the strenuous are belong. If Jack Dempsey had listened to the noise of "Red Hot Mama" he might, who knows, have enlisted in the Marines.

The redoubtable Gen. Jo Shelby took the stand in defense of Frank James, declaring he had not seen the defendant since 1872. He had asked Jesse where Frank was and had been told that Frank had been living in the South.

several years for his health, which was very poor.

About midway in the trial the defense suddenly abandoned the contention that Jim Cummins (who was no Shakespearean scholar) was one of the Winston robbers. The theory that only four men were in the party—Jesse James, Dick Liddell and the two Hites—was built up. Evidence was introduced to show that Wood Hite and Frank James, who were first cousins, bore a striking physical resemblance. The State controverted this with testimony to the effect that Hite was an unlettered, ungainly, awkward, slouchy, ill-groomed fellow with a stoop, whereas Frank James was erect, tidy, urbane, well-read, highly intelligent. Wood Hite's nickname was "Old Grimes."

In his long and able address to the jury Prosecutor Wallace made a strong point of the testimony of the Rev. Mr. Matchett. Alluding to the conversation on religion and poetry, Mr. Wallace remarked:

Shakespeare in Evidence.

"Finally the defendant, he said, got to Shakespeare, and after passing encomiums on this great genius arose and recited extracts from his plays—the slouchy Sphinx, alias Wood Hite, alias 'Old Grimes.' No doubt! A man, gentlemen, may change the exterior of his person, but he cannot change the complexion of the mind within. This is a most remarkable mental characteristic for a Western bandit. To say that it is nothing uncommon for a train robber to go through the land spouting Shakespeare is preposterous. There is no getting away from the identification furnished by Mr. Matchett.

"Mr. William E. Black, one of your best citizens, testifies that since Frank James has been in jail he had a long conversation with him, in which he talked much of Shakespeare and of his plays, naming, I think, Macbeth, Richard III, Hamlet, and others, and passing his opinion on Lawrence Barrett and others who he said he had had the pleasure of seeing. The nail witnesses, but the testimony of Matchett and Black, taken together, rivets forever the identity of this defendant. This completes the evidence for the State—abundant, conclusive, irresistible."

After being absent three and a half hours the jury returned a verdict finding Frank James not guilty. But not yet was Frank James free. Prosecutor Wallace had him taken back to Independence, intending to put him on trial for alleged complicity in the Blue Cut train robbery. As at Gallatin, Dick Liddell was to be a stellar witness for the State. But whilst James was in jail at Independence awaiting trial on this charge, the Supreme Court of Missouri rendered a decision in another case to the effect that a person who had been convicted of crime was not competent to testify in a court. Liddell had been sent to the penitentiary for horse-stealing several years before he became a member of the James band; he had been released on three-fourths time for good behavior. Mr. Wallace requested Gov. Crittenden to issue a pardon for this old offense. The Governor refused.

Frank Is Acquitted.

"There was nothing left for me to do except dismiss the case, which I did," says Mr. Wallace. "Thus ended the career of the Missouri outlaws. Probably no band in history ever came to a more ignominious ending. Only Frank James escaped."

Old indictments against James in Missouri and other states appear to have been forgotten at any rate they were ignored utterly by the respective powers. The assumption is that the authorities took one of two views: (a) "We couldn't convict him anyhow, for lack of evidence, so what's the use of trying him?" (b) "Oh, well, the whole gang's cleaned out now, mostly dead and done for, and it will be interesting to watch Frank James make good—if he is in him."

He had it in him and made good. That is in every respect the most boldly outstanding and the most humanly comforting fact in the whole history of the Missouri outlaws. From the moment when he stepped out of the jail at Independence, a free man for the first time, virtually since the beginning of the Civil War, and went home to Clay County to see his mother, to the day near 30 years later when he died in his bed at the old home, Frank James was a thoroughly good citizen. For many of those years I knew him personally, in his home and elsewhere, and I know scores of worthy citizens who knew him still more intimately, and as to the Frank James I knew and they knew I never have heard the merest whisper of dispraise.

The chorus in recognition of his commendable qualities of head and heart has been unanimous and enthusiastic.

Danger Signals of High Blood Pressure

"Dizzy spells, hot flashes, pains in the head, shortness of breath, sleeplessness, and nervousness usually indicate high blood pressure," warns physician who found treatment to reduce it.

These are symptoms which show an accumulation of poisonous waste matter in the system or that one or more of your organs has weakened and cannot bear to be overtaxed. Check it at once for it is known high blood pressure brings on hardening of the arteries, Bright's disease and often sudden death.

Norma, a harmless purely vegetable medicine and a physician's prescription, reduces blood pressure so rapidly it is called a great medical surprise. Often one bottle brings prompt relief. Ask for Norma for high blood pressure. Write, Wilson, Judas & Dugan Drug Store.

200,000 PROFIT ON BARGE LINE THIS YEAR

Head of Government Operating Corporation Here on Inspection Tour.

The Mississippi-Warrior barge service, operated on the Mississippi and Warrior rivers by the Government's Inland Waterways Corporation, has netted more than $200,000 profits for the first half of 1925.

Brigadier-General Thomas Q. Ashburn, head of the corporation, is in St. Louis with his staff, inspecting the properties and attending to other business. Last week he announced the first five months of 1925 showed a profit of $130,000, as against a net loss of $230,000 for a similar period in 1924.

Report on Service for June. Yesterday he made public a report for June, listing for the month: Total tonnage, 57,699; total revenue, $27,630.65; total expense, $455,427.41; net revenue, $247,793.24; depreciation, $27,000.00; net in pocket, $52,036.61.

Exact figures for July are not available, but he furnished the following estimates: Tonnage, 57,000; revenue, $362,323; expense, $345,523; net revenue, $17,000; depreciation, $26,000; in-pocket, $43,000.

It is the announced intention of the Government to relinquish control of the lines in favor of private enterprise when they are on a stable, permanent basis. Gen. Ashburn said, in reply to a question, that this will take place some time in the future, and nothing definite has been done so far.

Burkham Legal Adviser Here. Gen. Ashburn announced that Robert Burkham, St. Louis attorney, has been appointed legal representative of the corporation, here.

Gen. Ashburn was in conference yesterday with Theodore Brent, New Orleans, the corporation's traffic manager; J. P. Higgins, St. Louis, operating manager; Allen

Wuertle, Washington, consulting engineer, and John Powell, New Orleans, auditor. From St. Louis, he will go to Minneapolis, to discuss with business interests there a proposed extension of private river transportation service from that city to St. Louis.

BIDS FOR FIRE FIGHTING APPARATUS ARE CONSIDERED
 Five Pumps, Three Aerial Trucks and Two Service Trucks to be Purchased.
 Specifications for 10 pieces of fire-fighting apparatus were considered by the Board of Standardization today. They will be purchased under the bond issue program of completing the motorization of the Fire Department. The estimated cost is $136,000.
 There was a delay of about a year in getting the program to this point largely due to a difference over the requirements for the apparatus between former Fire Chief Panzer and former Master Mechanic Koeln. It is provided now that all companies bidding to supply the equipment must show that they have had at least 10 pumping engines operating successfully for at least two years.
 Five pumps, to pump at least 750 gallons of water a minute; three aerial trucks, with 85-foot ladders, and two city service trucks are to be bought.
MAN HURT BY FLYING BRICK
 Miners Pass Picket Line During Zeigler, Ill., Aug. 21.—An unidentified miner was severely injured and several automobiles were battered by flying bricks and clubs today as miners passed a picket line at the Bell & Zoller mine No. 1, where a "wildcat" strike is in progress.

SAYS PHILIPPINES CAN GROW ALL RUBBER NEEDED IN U. S.By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—The Philippine Islands can produce all the rubber needed in the United States, John W. Hausmann, vice president of the American Chamber of Commerce of the Philippine Islands, said today.

Drawing upon the islands for this country's rubber supply, he said, would result in a large saving to the public through lower costs.

Hausmann characterized as "extremely conservative" the report issued last week by the United States Department of Commerce, estimating that 1,500,000 acres were available for the growth of rubber in the Philippines, on the scale of 70,000 tons of production annually.

"This report," said Hausmann, "is based, because of the limited labor supply, on production as worked over the only 500,000 acres, or one-third of the acres available. On this basis, however, the surveyed lands of proved rubber production alone can eventually produce 210,000 tons annually, or more than two-thirds of America's present imports in crude rubber."

"The American Chamber of Commerce in the Philippines is now convinced that the lands can grow all the rubber needed by the United States."

PICKS CHILDREN'S HOME SITES Secretary Davis Selects 15 Locations for 400,000 Moose Buildings.By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor, as director general of the Loyal Order of Moose, has selected 15 sites for as many buildings at Mooseheart, the home for children, maintained by the order near here. The work will cost $400,000. Within the next five years 25 buildings will be erected.

The home, which is 12 years old, has more than 200 buildings erected at a cost of $10,000,000.

VANGILDER GAINS THIRD VICTORY OVER MACKMEN IN 3 DAYS

Browns' Relief Pitcher Single-Handed Topples Athletics Out of Lead

Disastrous Final Trip Here Sees Philadelphia Give Way to Washington—Red Sox Here for a Four-Game Series, Starting Today.

By Herman Wecke.

Having downed the Athletics three in a row and sent Connie Mack's pennant seekers down to second place, six percentage points behind the world's champion Senators, the Browns today will start a series of four contests with the tail-end Boston Red Sox. Those three triumphs at the expense of the Philadelphia club put Slater's men a game over the 100 mark and a game and a half ahead of the Detroit Tigers in the race for fourth place.

Joe Bush, driven off the ball in the opening tilt with Philadelphia, will likely face the men of Lee Fohl. Fred Wingo, a right-hander, is due to save for the opposition.

The Athletics' final trip to St. Louis this year proved a disastrous one. When the club arrived here it was two full games ahead of the Senators. But while the Mackmen were losing, three, the Senators were making hay of the expense of the Indians, coping three successive contests.

The Browns, owing to the three conquests, retained the reputation of St. Louis clubs for being the wreckers of hopes. They certainly took a lot of the flag hops out of the Philadelphia Americans.

Slater's Triple Wins Game.

Not only do the Athletics quit the city with three successive defeats, but Connie Mack's pitching staff was pretty well shot to pieces. In not one game was the starting pitcher able to survive the assaults of the Browns' batsmen. They all fell, even Lefty Grove, who, working for the first time in three days, was charged with the loss in the series final.

The Browns' victory in the third clash was well earned. In order to gain the conquest, the men of Slater came from behind, and it was a ninth inning triple by the manager himself that scored Lamotte's walk-off home run. Slater had walked following a drive into the right field bleachers by Harry Rice, which had tied the score.

Southpaw Hitting Did It.

Thus two left-handed hitters—batters who are not supposed to be able to swing with power—brought the Athletics from winning even a single clash here.

But there was one other record established in the series outside of the fact that the locals won two of the tilts with left-handed rallies. And that was set by Elam Russell Vangilder, the Cape Girardeau plow boy, Elam Russell slayed in each of the battles and was credited with each victory. That probably comes close to bring a major league record, the winner capturing three contests in as many days. And in each instance the right hander buried good ball. In the final, when Slater's men were down to their last gasp, it was a safety in 1-2-3 innings.

Gardner Routed by Mack.

Joe Gardner, the left-hander, who on his last out had blanked the Indians, started for Slater. Joe was hard to hit, the Mackmen reaching him in but two frames, but in those they made five smashes count for as many runs. One of the drives was a homer by Jimmy Dykes with two mates on the runways. Only one other safety was made by the Athletics and that came off of Slater's bat, but it started Philadelphia on its way to the final tally.

Slater's left-hander, after the Gardner attack until the seventh, when after two were out he faltered and the men of Slater put over three runs. Slater's score. The decisive smashes in this round were delivered by Lefty Jacobson and Marty McManus. Each of these players hit three hits for the day.

Then came the ninth. One was Stuckman Meets Wright in Final Title Match in County Singles to Be Played Tomorrow Afternoon.

The final round of the men's singles in the St. Louis County tennis championship will be held tomorrow afternoon, unless wet courts prevent, at the Kirkwood Country Club.

Forest Stuckman will oppose Proctor Wright. A close contest is expected, with Stuckman, owing to his greater tournament experience, a slight favorite. Richard Rosebrough, the 1924 champion, was eliminated by Stuckman in a fourth-round match.

Stuckman reached the final round by eliminating Charles McMillan, former Cleveland high player, in the semifinal. Wright gained the final bracket by defeating Robert Metcalfe, former county champion.

Play in the doubles tournament will be resumed, if possible, the final will be played Sunday. Only one doubles contest has been played this week. Wright and Garrett eliminated G. Pinger and McMahon in straight sets, 6-2, 6-1.

Coliseum Pool In Munny Swim Trophy Victory

Wins Meet at Marquette Tank in First Year of Entry; Groh Sets Record.

The Coliseum pool swimming team, entered for the first time in the municipal swimming championship races, won the point trophy last night at the Marquette tank by running up a total of 39 points, just one point above the total made by the Fairground pool squad.

Harold Groh, young knight of Coliseum pool star, who came into prominence recently in the Western A. U. races, furnished one of the evening's features by establishing a new record for the men's class B 100-yard dash. His time was 1m. 2 1/2-5s.

Miss Anne Farrell, 16-year-old pupil of Grace Stewart, made the 100-yard swim in 1m. 18s., tying the record of her teacher. She also won the 50-yard event.

Wallie Nelson Leads Western Field With 144

Earl Howell of St. Louis Among Leaders With Score of 150.

Table with 2 columns: Name, Score. Rows include Wallie Nelson (144), Earl Howell (150), etc.

By the Associated Press. YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 21.—More than 200 golfers continued play today in the second elimination round of the Western Open Golf championship at the Youngstown Country Club where 70 players yesterday scored 75 or better.

Wallie Nelson, of Indianapolis, took temporary lead of the field for 36 holes by scoring a pair of 35s this morning for a total of 144 in spite of a heavy wind and heavy turf as a result of last night's rain. His score was 75 on the first nine and 69 on the last nine.

With the heavy wind predictions showed the qualifying limit of 79 couple strokes, although many of the early starters had better scores than yesterday. A number of golfers withdrew after finishing today's round, having been unable to score well enough to have a chance of qualifying.

Harry Dettloff of Oshkosh, Wis., a 71, and Harry Cooper of Dallas with a 70, tied Nelson at 144 for first place among the early finishers.

Art Ham of Detroit, former Australian champion, although slight in stature, came home with 72, scoring four pars in a row in the finish for a total of 148 in spite of the storm. Among those who withdrew yesterday's scoring was Phil Henry of Philadelphia, who added an 80 to his 72, but had a chance of qualifying with 152.

Scores for today with total two days: W. W. Nelson, Indianapolis, 35-35-70; Earl Howell, St. Louis, 37-37-74; Harry Dettloff, Oshkosh, Wis., 35-35-70; Harry Cooper, Dallas, 35-35-70; Art Ham, Detroit, 35-35-70; Phil Henry, Philadelphia, 37-37-74; etc.

HORNSBY MAKES BUT ONE HIT IN FOUR GAMES AGAINST BOSTON

Cards at Philly After Losing 4 Games to Braves

Opening Game of Series With Fletcher's Men Is Postponed.

Laugh This Off.

By the Associated Press. ST. LOUIS, Aug. 21.—The opening game of the series between the Cardinals and Phillies, scheduled for this afternoon, was postponed because of rain. A double-header is scheduled for tomorrow.

One of the first things Manager Hornsby did after the Cardinals lost Boston last night was to start talking about the lack of pep and aggressiveness the club showed in the series against the tail-end Braves.

It was tough enough, said the Rajah, "to lose four games, but it was a baseball crime for the Cards to take things so meekly."

The Rajah himself was just on the verge of being chased out of the game by Umpire Ernie Quigley in the eighth inning. Rogers thought he had beaten out an infield hit. Quigley said the Manager was out. Then came the argument which was getting close to the expulsion point when a couple of the Cards told their boss it would not help the team any if he were benched and drew an angry suspension.

That episode, however, did not prevent Hornsby from getting after his men. He has not been riding them or driving them particularly hard since he took over the reins. But he has been telling them that they must show a not more fight all along the line if they are to fare any better here against the Braves.

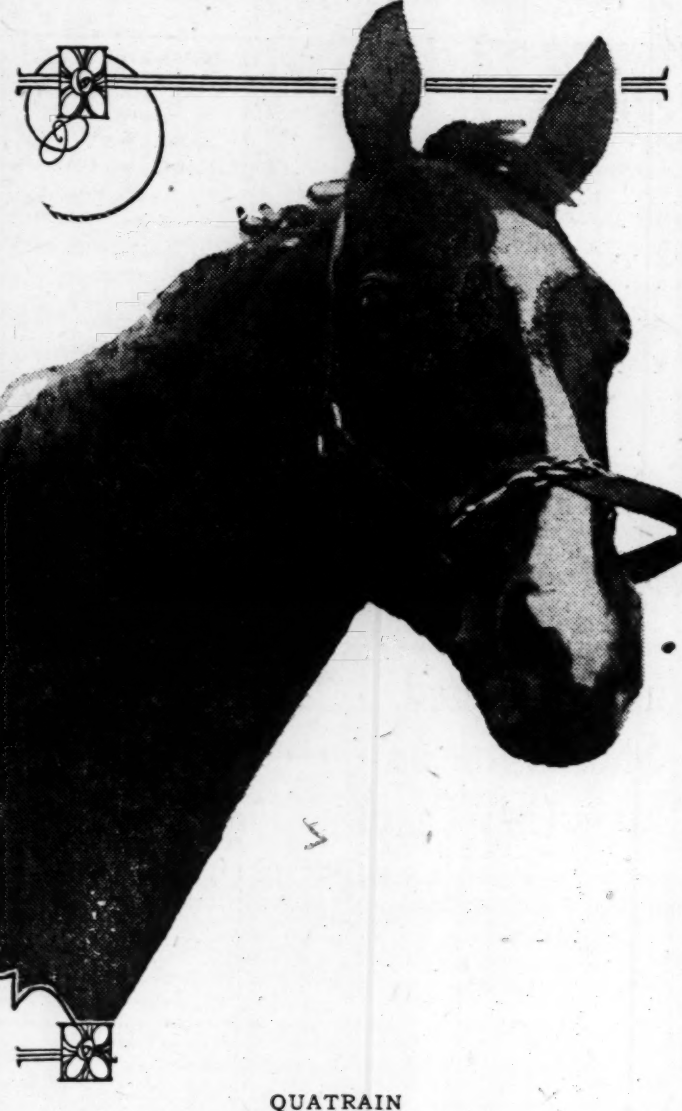

One Hit for Hornsby. In the 13 times that the Rajah was at bat in the Boston series, he got only one hit, a single. He hit the ball several times to deep right field, and it was caught. In St. Louis, and right here in Philly, those long fly-outs would have been home runs. But you have to hit the ball a mile in Boston to get a home run. The exception to this rule was when an outfielder misjudges a hard hit ball or when he falls at a shoe-string clutch. Two such homers were made on the Beantown lot yesterday afternoon.

Hafey failed to shoe-string a drive off Andy Hich's bat and it rolled to the distant cement barrier as a four bagger. Then Gus Felix in center field failed to properly judge a long, high fly off Hafey's bat, the ball landed over Gus's head and bounded on the hard terrain for a homer. Each time there was a man on base. Two runs came to each team this way. But the pop-fly that hit the batter's home run is un- known on Braves' field. You have to bang the ball more than 400 feet there to have it even come close to any barrier on fair ground.

Reinhart or Dickerman Tomorrow. Reinhart or Dickerman may go against the Phils tomorrow. The Card finishers lost four straight decisions in Boston, but they pitched fairly good for all that. Their mistakes were not hitting the Boston pitching, which, Hornsby is quite willing to agree, is better than that furnished by teams much higher in the race.

The Cards have taken 11 out of 16 games played so far against the Phils this year, and feel that their fortunes will take a turn for the better, but Hornsby is taking nothing for granted and is trying to talk up a more aggressive team spirit.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Somebody Lied. NOTWITHSTANDING that the national secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union Frederick Rubien telegraphed the Post-Dispatch that he "had sent no communication to" Willie Buff, and that he knew nothing of an amateur American boxing team going to England Sept. 6, this morning's dispatches include one from Willie Buff, setting forth in detail what purports to be a message from Rubien.

Buff had written the Post-Dispatch that he had been barred from the American boxing team which was "to sail Sept. 6," because somebody fighting under his name had been beaten by Jack Horner of St. Louis. Rubien denied sending such a message and the Post-Dispatch requested Buff to reproduce it in detail.

Buff's reply follows: Mr. Wray, Sporting Editor, St. Louis Post-Dispatch, St. Louis, Mo. Your wire received and the following message was wired to me by Rubien: "Willie Buff—Your recent defeat by Jack Horner at St. Louis on Aug. 13 has caused considerable consideration as to whether you will now be a member of the New York A. C. Club's team of boxers which is leaving for Europe Sept. 6. I trust this will be sufficient notice to you that your place has been taken by Tommy Lawn, your stablemate of the N. Y. A. C."

Another wire was received by me from Rubien stating that I have been suspended by the Metropolitan District of the A. A. U. for my failure to abide by the amateur rules, in failing to ask permission to box out of my district. I must appear at the A. A. U. offices in New York City, on Sept. 15.

All this trouble was absolutely the fault of either Kid Howard of Chicago, or the officials of the Business Men's Club of your city. I do hope they all realize what a mess they have got me into. WILLIE BUFF.

Buff's Message. Considering that Rubien twice telegraphed the Post-Dispatch that he "had sent no message to" Willie Buff, and that he knew nothing of an amateur American boxing team going to England Sept. 6, this morning's dispatches include one from Willie Buff, setting forth in detail what purports to be a message from Rubien.

1000 Baseball Fans Have Already Selected Teams in Ruth All-America Contest

Similarity of Picks Means That Explanatory Letter Will Have Great Deal to Do With Naming of Winner—Cobb Gains on Speaker.

Rules for Babe Ruth All-America Team Contest for 1925. ANY reader who mails to the Post-Dispatch between Aug. 9 and Aug. 31 an All-American team of 10 players (except Babe Ruth himself) in the American or National League for the season of 1925, with an ORIGINAL letter of not over 200 words, explaining the reason for picking each player for the position he occupies is eligible to compete.

The winning team must be named not alone as to players, but as to positions in conformity with Ruth's ideas. Players MAY be placed in positions other than their regular places providing they have played in those places in at least one championship game in 1925.

Contributors should take especial care with the 200-word letter as all other features coinciding, the merit of the letter will be the deciding factor. In addition, Babe Ruth himself offers an autographed bat and an autographed ball for the man who picks his team or the one nearest it.

With the Babe Ruth All-America major league team contest slightly more than half over, approximately one thousand Post-Dispatch readers have submitted selections to coincide with the team which Ruth will choose. This means that by August 31, when the contest ends, two thousand or more entries will await the decision of the judges.

These figures serve to emphasize the importance of the contest which is altogether possible that the prizes may be awarded on the basis of this feature. A better variety of choice is manifest in the latest selections to arrive, not only in the pitching department but in the infield and outfield positions as well. By Cobb being more frequently mentioned for center field, although the chances of his overtaking Tris Speaker are few, as the Cleveland manager is an overwhelming favorite.

Harry Rice of the Browns is cut. A better variety of choice is manifest in the latest selections to arrive, not only in the pitching department but in the infield and outfield positions as well. By Cobb being more frequently mentioned for center field, although the chances of his overtaking Tris Speaker are few, as the Cleveland manager is an overwhelming favorite.

Australians Can Clinch American Zone Final Today

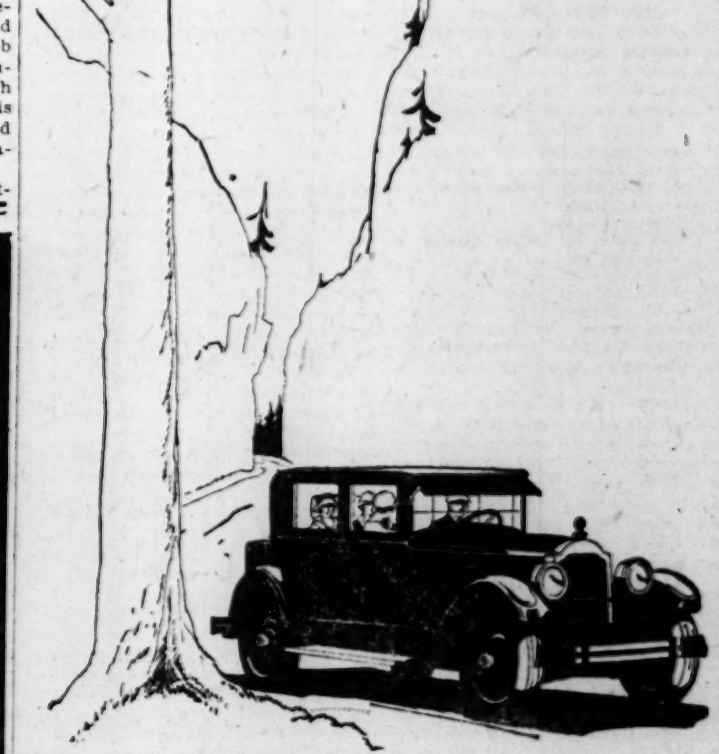

Antipodeans Hope to Eliminate Japanese by Winning Doubles Today.

By the Associated Press. BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 21.—Australia's Davis Cup doubles team, Gerald Patterson and John B. Hawkes, will try to clinch the American Zone final of the Davis Cup competition by defeating the team representing Japan, consisting of Zenshiro Shimizu and Takeuchi Harada.

Victory today will make the Australians safe for the interzone final with France, as the Antipodeans yesterday won both their singles contests from the Japanese.

In the first match Gerald Patterson won a straight set victory over Shimizu, 6-1, 6-4, 6-2. In the other match James O. Anderson defeated Harada in four sets, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3, 6-1.

If Japan should unexpectedly win today, the Australians would have to win one of the two remaining singles matches—Anderson vs. Shimizu and Patterson vs. Harada.

Maloney Knocked Out by Solomon But Wins Battle

Decisive Punch Comes After Bell Had Rung Ending the Bout.

By Fair Play.

(Copyright, 1925.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Another heavyweight prospect has gone up the flue. When Leo Gates, the by no means wooden Indian, knocked out Jim Maloney, the prize of Boston, everyone thought that it was merely one of those accidents that will happen in the best regulated rings.

But last night, in his own town, King Solomon in all his glory landed one on Maloney and the terror of the Hub passed peacefully into slumber.

The ironical thing about his kayo is that in delivering it the Palestine monarch lost the fight inasmuch as the bell had rung before he let go that right.

Even so, Maloney, when he woke up and was told he had won the battle probably did not get a great deal of satisfaction out of his victory.

You are not inclined to rejoice, to exult with glee and turn handsprings when you see your defeated opponent stepping blithely head and shoulders square, while you yourself are feeling like a damp dishrag and a million birds of assorted broods are trilling in the branches of the yew trees.

ROBBERS RETURN PART OF MONEY IN HOLDUP

Keep $8 and Give Back $5 to Hotel Employees—Watchman Fires at Intruder.

At 5:45 a. m. today, two armed young men entered the Orpheum Hotel, 1011 hand Chestnut streets, held up the clerk, James Collins, and two negro bellboys, James Hubbard and Charles Smith, and demanded "the house money." The robbers were informed guests were few and "house money" was not at all.

After taking $4, $7 and $2 from Collins, Hubbard and Smith, the robbers returned $4 to Collins and $1 to Hubbard and drove away in a Ford coupe.

Two armed men visited the Manhattan Hotel, Eighteenth and Chestnut streets, at 12:45 a. m. held up a negro maid, Loretta Leonard, at the desk, which yielded $13, and escaped in a taxi.

Pursuit at Intruder.

Algis Brown, private watchman at the Hunkins-Willis Lime and Cement Co., 3935 Duncan avenue, observed two strange men moving about the Nat. L. McGuire Oil Co., 201 South Vandeventer avenue, at 10 o'clock last night.

Accompanied by two civilians he crossed the street and covered one of the men with his revolver. The man ran into the building and jumped out of a window. Brown fired six shots, and as the man escaped by passing under a string of freight cars, he cried, "I'm shot, I'm shot." After searching vainly for this man, Brown returned and found the second man, as well as the two civilians, had disappeared.

The combination of a safe in the McGuire Co. office had been knocked off and about $10 taken. A punch and hammer were abandoned in the office by the robbers. Gives Pursuit to Man.

Since last September, the police and Jack Gold, tire merchant, at 1412 Carr street, have been seeking a former employee of Gold who stole Gold's automobile and drove it to Mount City, Ill., where he abandoned it.

At noon yesterday the man, passed Gold's store. Gold recognized him and shouted, "Hey!" The man, pursued by Gold, ran to Fifteenth street and Franklin avenue, where he dropped his purse. Gold stopped to pick up the purse, and the man escaped. The purse contained four photographs of the thief, and $2.

JEWELRY ROBBERS PASS HALF HOUR PICKING $250,000 LOOT
Four Masked Men Empty Five Safes and Select Costly Gems in Chicago Office.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Jewelry valued at upward of $250,000, most of it in diamonds, was the loot of a robber quartet, who yesterday invaded the seventh floor offices of Lazarus & Well, jewelry manufacturers, in a building on the fringe of the downtown district, held a half dozen employees and officials of the company at bay and raided five large safes. They fled without disturbing numerous other employees in adjoining rooms.

The robbers were engaged for half an hour in sorting out valuable jewelry, scattering cheaper gems on the floor.

Two of the robbers sorted the jewelry, and a third terrorized the office force with two pistols, and the fourth remained in an automobile with engine purring. All were masked.

Supreme QUALITY NEW CHRYSLER SIX

A Promise Kept

New High Quality; New Lower Prices

While the motoring public acclaims the Chrysler Six as the most phenomenal car ever built, Walter P. Chrysler announces notable improvements in quality—of materials, of performance, of craftsmanship, of equipment of design.

Greater Power—Increased cylinder bore resulting in approximately 10 per cent more torque, giving 70 miles per hour with greater ease and quickness than ever before.

Faster Acceleration—5 to 25 miles in 7 seconds, power enough to climb the steepest grades and pull through deepest mud or sand, from refined power plant with a still larger crankshaft of 50 per cent greater torsional rigidity.

Remarkable Fuel Economy—Carburetion improved to deliver 20 and more miles per gallon of gasoline, notwithstanding increased power and faster acceleration.

Improved Rear Axle—Ring gears and pinions are larger; differential carrier heavier so handle increased engine power.

Distinctive Color Combinations—Body colors, in duco, are the most attractive and tasteful ever offered. Chrysler-designed, Fisher-built closed bodies are further refined; attractively low and gracefully rounded.

Extraordinary Equipment—Chrysler equipment is of a quality and completeness rarely found on any car—even the highest priced. It includes Purolator, which filters all dirt from crankcase oil as the motor runs; Watson Stabilizers, the most efficient and most costly device of its type to absorb the shock of road irregularities; air-cleaner, which removes all road dirt and dust from air entering the engine; thermostat control of water heat for most efficient operations; Chrysler-Lockheed hydraulic four-wheel brakes which provide utmost safety control; Spartan "SOS" electric horn; duco durable body finish; balloon tires.

At the completion of the first history-making year of Chrysler Six—Walter P. Chrysler pledged himself and his organization to strive earnestly to keep the Chrysler Six as far ahead as it stood at that moment.

The new Chrysler Six—at new and lower prices—is the answer to that promise—the result of his engineering and manufacturing genius which never rests satisfied.

Cold words fail to describe this new Chrysler Six—a car so far beyond any comparison with existing cars that you must know it personally to understand its unapproachable superiority. That is why we are eager to have you see and drive it for yourself.

A demonstration will prove conclusively to you why to-day's Chrysler Six strides far ahead of competition.

ALCOHOL IN FIREBOX IN DESERTED BREWERY

Old Empire Plant on South
Sarah Also Yields Iced Bottles of Beer.

The old Empire Brewery, at 329-31 South Sarah street, is supposed to be deserted and dry as dust, but nothing is being taken for granted by rum raiders nowadays.

Last night Detective-Bergman and his squad occupied a portion of the brewery building, Dan Brown, brother of the owner, John H. Brown, was behind the bar. In reply to a question, he said it was not true that hard drinks were sold there. But the skeptical police proceeded to the boiler room of the deserted brewery and found 120-iced bottles of beer. And in a firebox, they hadn't felt a fire for years, they found 54 gallons of alcohol.

The Brown brothers professed to be surprised. They were arrested.

Whisky Is Recovered From Pot of Hot Soup

As the shadow of police raiders descended the door of Charles Kreutzinger's saloon at 222 North Seventh street, Kreutzinger dashed with a bottle in each hand from his bar to a kitchen in the rear. The bottle followed. But recovered two pints of whisky from a pot of hot soup, and arrested the proprietor.

An earnest conversation beside the kitchen in the saloon of Adolph Haug, 4025 North Broadway, was interrupted by police. Haug and his other talker, Edward Schnatzmeyer, McLaren Station, St. Louis County, were at a loss for words, and Schnatzmeyer pushed some "something" was a pint of whisky. Schnatzmeyer insisted he had not bought the liquor, but had found it in Haug's refrigerator. But police found Schnatzmeyer's pay check in Haug's till, and arrested both men.

13 STREET PAVING OBS ARE APPROVED

Public Service Board to Recommend Improvements to Cost $207,650.

Recommendations for 13 street improvement projects, estimated to cost $207,650, were made by the Board of Public Service today. The Board of Aldermen will meet next month to consider ordinances for these and other street improvement projects previously recommended.

The projects, the types of paving specified and the estimated costs, follow:

Compton avenue, between Arsenal street and Gravois avenue, Warrenite bituthic, $22,200.
Pennsylvania avenue, between Bates and Fassen streets, Warrenite bituthic, $22,000.
Pennsylvania avenue, between Davis and Steins streets, Warrenite bituthic, $24,400.
Compton avenue, between Ashland and National Bridge avenues, asphalt, $18,750.
Newby street, between Gimblin and McLaren streets, asphaltic concrete, $11,600.
San Juan street, between Christian and Thrush avenues, asphaltic concrete, $10,900.
Theodore avenue, between Euclid avenue and Kingshighway, asphaltic concrete, $11,900.
Edwards street, from Columbia and Southwest avenues to Elizabeth avenues, asphalt, $19,600.
Compton avenue, between Fassen street and Eichleicher avenue, Portland cement concrete, $6,600.
Tennessee avenue, between Williamson street and Iron street, asphaltic concrete, $14,400.
Tennessee avenue, from Iron street, north of Kansas street, asphaltic concrete, $10,500.

A hearing for taxpayers regarding these improvements was held at the Board of Public Service last Tuesday. Chief Engineer Horner of the board said about 200 more hearings, involving improvements of 65 miles of streets, will be held this year. Settlement for good streets is growing, mainly due to the automobile and more taxpayers favor improvements now than formerly, he said.

PRIEST PLEADS GUILTY OF CHECK FRAUD

Peculations From Bank Said to Total $5000, of Which $3800 Has Been Restored.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Nicholas Shutakewicz of Wood Haven, an ordained priest in the Greek Orthodox Church, pleaded guilty yesterday in Brooklyn County Court to petty larceny in connection with cashing 12 $100 travelers' checks owned by the East New York Savings Bank, where he was head of the foreign department.

Judge McLaughlin allowed the minor plea in order to give the prisoner a chance to make restitution, and remanded him for sentence Aug. 31.

Shutakewicz has a wife and two children. It was alleged that his thefts from the bank, which is in Brooklyn, totaled $5000. Of this amount he is said to have returned $3800.

BRITISH WOMEN TAKING BIGGER SIZES IN GLOVES AND SHOES

Development in Their Physique Attributed to More Strenuous Life Than Formerly.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—Owing to the more strenuous life they are leading and consequent greater muscular development, British women today are taking bigger sizes in gloves and shoes. Careful observers assert that the hands and feet of women are larger than they were five years ago. This assertion has been confirmed by the buyers for big stores. They say that girls are demanding gloves at least two sizes larger and that there now is little demand for the small, tight shoes, except by persons of slight build.

A Summer Hint.

TO keep well and comfortable during the warm weather there should be no strain on the digestive organs and all food should be of a cooling nature. Fish comprises both these essentials and it is a wise housewife who largely substitutes fish for meat in summer. It can be served in such a variety of appetizing ways that the family will eat it with relish three or four times a week just as they do the meat during the winter.

Now came real fear, and at its touch those others thrived up, Virginia down there at grips with death, rebelling—oh, she knew what torture—just this stark fact shocked her back to vision.

Children's Bedtime Story

Redwing the Blackbird Makes a Fuss

I know of nothing quite so sad
As sharing in a name that's bad.

OF course, Peter Rabbit should have been at home in the dear old Briar-patch. That is where he belongs in the middle of the forenoon. But Peter wasn't there. Peter was over by the Smiling Pool. It was a sunny morning. Peter was sitting well out of sight beneath the alder bushes that grew near where the Laughing Brook flowed into the Smiling Pool. Just beyond the rushes grew for some distance out in the water and in the rushes on the edge of the Smiling Pool was Jerry Muskrat's house.

"Now, what do you know about that?" exclaimed Peter

Nothing had happened and Peter, having been out all night, was rather sleepy. He nodded and dozed. It was very quiet, very peaceful and warm. Never in his life had Peter felt more like a nap. He had just about made up his mind that it would be quite safe to really go to sleep, when suddenly Redwing the Blackbird began to make a great fuss. Mrs. Redwing joined him. Peter didn't even have to ask what it was all about. He had learned by experience to know that whenever any of his feathered friends get so excited in just that way it is because they have discovered a member of the Snake family.

Peter thought at once of old Mr. Blacksnake and wondered if the latter could be after the babies of Mr. and Mrs. Redwing. Then he remembered that the nest of Mr. and Mrs. Redwing was somewhere out in those rushes and could be reached only by someone who could swim or fly. He knew that Mr. Blacksnake was a land Snake.

Of course, Peter stretched his neck and peered and peeked trying to see what all the fuss was about, but he saw nothing to cause all that excitement. After a while Redwing and Mrs. Redwing quieted down. They flew off about their business. Once more it became quiet and peaceful. But by this time Peter was no longer sleepy. He hopped along a little farther and presently he came to a place where he could see quite clearly the roof of Jerry Muskrat's house standing above the water.

At first Peter didn't notice anything out of the usual. On the top of that roof the sun poured down warm and bright. "Huh," said Peter to himself. "Jerry Muskrat again. Peter watched so long that finally he made up his mind that he must have been mistaken. He made up his mind that his eyes had played him a trick. It must be that he had simply thought that something had moved there. But while he was still thinking this, a flat head with unblinking eyes was raised just above the middle of that brown mass. Peter almost squealed out. It was the head of a Snake. Yes, sir, it was a head of a big member of the Snake family. But what under the sun was he doing out there on the roof of Jerry Muskrat's house? This is what Peter wanted to know.

There was a brown mass on the top of Jerry Muskrat's house, and perhaps Peter was excusable in taking it for a mass of mud at that distance. It had the color of mud, brown mud. Peter was still idly looking at it and wondering how it happened to be there, when it moved. Yes, sir, it moved. You should have seen Peter sit up then. "Now, what do you know about that?" exclaimed Peter. His eyes bulged right out. How Peter did stare!

ASSAULT CHARGES
AGAINST EIGHT
COUNTY OFFICERS

Two Private Detectives Also Named in Warrants Either Issued or Prepared in Case of Prisoner.

DENY PRISONER
WAS TORTURED

George Lenhardt Accused
Men of Beating Him in Effort to Get Confession
on Death of Wife.

Six more warrants charging common assault have been prepared for issuance today in St. Louis County, against five Deputy Constables and a private detective, who are among those alleged to have tortured George Lenhardt in trying unsuccessfully to get a confession from him that he murdered his wife on Aug. 1.

Four assault warrants were issued yesterday, charging three other Deputy Constables and another private detective with taking part in the torture. Constable George Roth of Central Township, superior of the deputies involved, also is to be charged with assault if Lenhardt identifies him as one of his assailants.

Announcement that the warrants would be issued against the six men and possibly against Constable Roth was made by Prosecuting Attorney Mueller, who said that issuance of the six warrants only Lenhardt's signature to an additional affidavit. After Constable Roth denied that he knew of or had taken part in any mistreatment of the prisoner, Lenhardt's attorney, John A. Nolan, who is legal adviser to the County Court, announced that the request for a warrant against the Constable would not be pressed if Lenhardt failed to identify Roth.

Named in Warrant.
Deputy Constables Frank Robinson, Harvey Litzinger, Joseph P. Baum, Warren Ketchum and Lawrence L. Sheller, and an operative of the Edward J. Harrigan Security Service Agency, Max Lander, are those named in the six warrants prepared for issuance.

Those charged with assault in warrants yesterday are Deputy Constables Ralph Strain, Sam Scorsora and George Martin, and the assistant manager of the Hargrave agency, Arthur B. McNeely. The three deputies were arrested by Deputy Sheriff and furnished bonds of $100 each. As a result Martin was dismissed as a Clayton policeman.

The Hargrave agency, represented by McNeely and Lander, and employed by Mrs. Lenhardt's relatives, obtained statements of persons in the vicinity of Lenhardt's truck farm at Oakville as to his presence at home about the time of his wife's murder near the house. Lenhardt has offered an alibi.

Detective McNeely appeared at the Sheriff's office at Clayton last night to surrender under the warrant, but as a Deputy Sheriff for him, he was not placed under arrest then. McNeely formerly was editor of the old St. Louis County Sentinel, a Clayton newspaper. His agency has offices in the Victoria Building.

Denial of Charges.
All of those named in the warrants have denied that Lenhardt was tortured, though some of them admitted that he was made to stand against a wall while a rope noose was dangled before him, and that he was not permitted to eat most of the time he was in their custody nor to sleep. Lenhardt was arrested at his home at 2:30 p. m. Thursday, taken out in an automobile and then kept at Constable Roth's office in the basement of the Clayton courthouse almost constantly from 5 p. m. till 5 a. m. yesterday.

Lenhardt said that all he recalled during the afternoon and night, during which time he said he was beaten, was a little water, until morning, when he was given two hamburger sandwiches and some coffee. Yesterday he was taken to city hospital, where he is held prisoner under treatment for numerous bruises and abrasions.

Constable Roth declared that he was present during the questioning of Lenhardt only for about an hour, about 7 p. m. Thursday, and about 25 minutes at 3 a. m. yesterday, at which time, he said, he gave Lenhardt a sandwich, water and a cigarette.

Prosecuting Attorney Mueller said the grand jury next month would be asked to investigate reports of beatings administered to numerous prisoners in the county. The assault charges will be tried in Circuit Court. Maximum penalty upon conviction may be six months in jail, a $100 fine, or both.
